LATROBE STREET MENTONE CROSSING

Yesterday the Member for Sandringham, Murray Thompson, raised the following Constituency Question in the Victorian Parliament:-

My constituency question is directed to the Minister for Public Transport. The Latrobe Street crossing in Mentone on the Frankston line is a very important local transport conduit. It distributes traffic better within the area, providing access to Nepean Highway and the local suburbs of Cheltenham and Mentone and whenever Balcombe Road might be built up. In traffic it provides another traffic course. My question to the Minister for Public Transport is: will the minister take into account the weight of public opinion and the importance of continuing to provide transport access routes as Melbourne's population doubles rather than seeing the closure of the crossing as a good outcome, which has been mooted in some public discussions?
